

DEATH LIST IS GROWING

Reports from the Storm Swept District

Show That Larger Number Were Killed—Heavy Damage Was Done in Kentucky.

Vinita, I. T., April 26.—The death list is being swelled by additional reports coming in of the cyclones which swept over Cherokee county Sunday night. Near Fairland, Mrs. Mary Lamar, Mrs. John Lemester and the two-months old child of John Houck were killed. Two children of R. Molder were fatally injured. Mrs. John Dial was injured internally, and Mrs. Artie Brough has both arms and both legs broken by falling timbers. John True-love and child and an unknown man were killed at Chouteau. Mrs. True-love was seriously injured.

TWO CHILDREN KILLED.

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 26.—Two children of Plan Thomas were killed and Mrs. Thomas was severely injured by being pinned under the timbers of their house, which was demolished by a cyclone Sunday night. The storm swept a path through Jefferson county from the southwest about 200 feet wide. Several residences and farm buildings were wrecked. Over $10,000 damage was done.

STORM IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, Ky., April 26.—Reports received today relative to the windstorm which passed over Central and Western Kentucky last night indicated the loss will probably reach $250,000. As far as can be learned there was no loss of life. The towns which suffered most severely are Paducah, Owensboro, Carlisle, Paris and Maysville. In these towns a number of buildings were completely wrecked and many dwellings and factories unroofed and otherwise damaged. Paris suffered the most severely, the loss there being estimated at $50,000. Many tobacco barns were completely destroyed but the loss on the tobacco is small as the greater part of the crop has been moved on account of the high prices which have prevailed for some time. At Maysville the roof of the fair grounds amphitheatre was blown off and smashed to splinters. Several buildings were unroofed and windows blown out of others. Growing crops were badly damaged and the loss may be greater than now estimated when reports are received from the more remote districts in the path of the storm.

DAMAGE AT PARIS.

Paris, Ky., April 26.—A cyclone struck this city Monday afternoon and did probably $80,000 damages. The roof of W. Ed Tucker's dry goods store was picked up bodily and carried across the street, breaking in the roof of the Patton building. Dozens of residences were damaged.

OTHER KENTUCKY POINTS

Carlisle, Ky., April 26.—A heavy wind and rainstorm Monday afternoon caused much damage in this section. In this city roofs were blown off a number of buildings. Reports from the county show that great damage was done. The damage may reach $50,000 here. News from Millersburg, eight miles away, is that great havoc was wrought there.

RUSSIANS ARE MASSES.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—Mukden reports 40,000 men are occupying fortified positions along the Yalu river and 20,000 are posted at Takushan, at the head of Korea bay, where the Japanese have threatened to make a landing. The Russians also occupy the banks of the Tuman river from Russo-Korean frontier to Lake Taitai on the Manchurian frontier.

SEVEN SPECIAL TRAINS FOR LOS ANGLES A RECORD BREAKER

Philadelphia, April 26.—The first train of a series of seven bound for the general conference of the Methodist church at Los Angeles, Cal., left here under the personally conducted system of the Pennsylvania railroad. Six other trains will leave on the 27th under the same auspices, each with a complement of 170 persons. The trains are equipped with sleepers and dining cars, and have stenographers

TOMB

Was Broken Open and Robbed of Its Dead—A Legend of Buried Diamonds.

Hudson, N. Y., April 26.—The startling discovery was made yesterday that the family tomb of the Livingstons on the Livingston Manor place near here, had been broken open Saturday night and robbed of its dead. The body taken away, and of which there is no trace, was that of the wife of General Henry W. Livingston (Fighting Harry), famous a century ago for her beauty, wealth and social prestige, and known, because of her fidelity to the memory of her husband as "Widow Mary." The legend that the splendid diamonds of the widow were buried with her accounts for the desecration of the tomb.

BOMBARDMENT OF NIUCHWANG

Was Undertaken by the Japs Last Night.

A Seoul Correspondent Cables That
Crew of the Japanese Sunken Steamer Is Safe.

London, April 26.—(Bulletin)—The Tien Tsin correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company wires that the Japanese bombarded the forts of Niuchwang yesterday evening.

London, April 26.—Reuter's Seoul correspondent this morning wires that the latest news from Gensan is that the Russian warships which yesterday appeared off that port and sunk the Japanese steamer Goyo Maru, have disappeared. The crew of the sunken steamer, he says, are safe.

SIGNED

An Anti-Divorce Agreement, and Then
Ginley Married Them—His First Converts.

Cleveland, O., April 26.—Before they could be married yesterday Charles Rhoda and Julia Kortan had to sign a solemn agreement never to seek divorce. Justice Ginley then made them man and wife. It was the first marriage ceremony the squire had ever performed, but he tied the knot skillfully and promptly.

When Ginley went into the office a little over a year ago he declared that he would marry no one unless an agreement were first signed promising never to ask divorce. Many brides and grooms came to him, for Ginley is popular, but not a couple would agree to sign away their chances of a possible divorce. Yesterday as he hung up his coat and hat N. Zonowitz walked into his office. In his wake came Rhoda and Miss Kortan. Zonowitz, who is a neighbor of Rhoda, told the justice that he had read of his anti-divorce agreement. He had talked to Rhoda about it and the latter had said that he and his bride would have nobody but Ginley to marry them.

"Will you promise never to ask for a divorce?" asked Ginley.
"We will," they answered.
The contract was signed and the ceremony performed.

EIGHT HOUR BILL

Washington April 26.—By a vote of 4 to 3, two members being absent, the Senate committee on education and labor today decided to postpone further consideration of the eight-hour bill until next December.

Philadelphia, April 26.—The first train of a series of seven bound for the general conference of the Methodist church at Los Angeles, Cal., left here under the personally conducted system of the Pennsylvania railroad. Six other trains will leave on the 27th under the same auspices, each with a complement of 170 persons. The trains are equipped with sleepers and dining cars, and have stenographers

RUSSIA TO FIGHT TO THE FINISH

The Talk of Mediation
Was Founded

Upon the Personal Desires of King
Edward and King Christian—The Successor of Alexieff.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—An authentic announcement is made that the talk of mediation in the Russo-Japanese war was founded upon the personal desires of King Edward and King Christian of Denmark to avoid further bloodshed and end the conflict, but that the steps initiated have utterly failed.

The emperor, with the full concurrence of the imperial family and his advisers, has finally decided not only to reject all proposals looking to intervention, but to prosecute the war with all the resources of the empire until victory crowns Russian arms, and then when the time comes for peace to make terms directly with the enemy.

The interference of outside powers will not be tolerated. There is to be no repetition of the Berlin congress. Furthermore, the statement is made that Russia will in no wise consider herself bound by the propositions made to Japan prior to the war.

The hostilities have wiped out the engagements Russia offered to make with Japan regarding Korea and Manchuria. Russia will consider herself free to impose such terms as she desires.

Exactly what form of mediation was to be brought about, or if, indeed, mediation or "good offices" were actually offered, what steps were to be taken, how far they progressed, or where, are not disclosed.

It is known that after the disaster to the Petropavlovsk the king of Denmark wrote the emperor a letter of sympathy, in which he expressed the hope that a way could be found to avoid further bloodshed.

Whether a communication on a proposition on the subject ever reached the emperor has not been learned, but it is certain that the matter reached such a stage as to compel its consideration and to induce the definite announcement made yesterday afternoon that the war must be fought to a finish and that the powers must keep their hands off both during the war and during the peace negotiations at its conclusion.

Ten days ago a dispatch from Tokio printed here that Japan, in full possession of Korea, might possibly be willing to stop the war on the basis of the existing situation.

The dispatch attracted little attention at the time, but it is now thought possible that it might have had some connection with the movement for mediation.

GEN KUROPATKIN WILL BE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—General Kuropatkin, it is believed in the highest military circles here, is destined to become commander in chief of all the emperor's forces, both military and naval, in the far East.

COSSACKS

Are Thrown Across the Yalu in Two Places to Flank Japs.

St. Petersburg, April 26.—General Kuropatkin has played a strong card in the game of strategy. A large portion of Gen. Rennenkampf's Cossack cavalry division has been thrown across the upper reaches of the Yalu and a considerable force of cavalry, which crossed the Tumen some time ago, is moving down to the southwest to effect a junction with it.

Together with this force, which it is believed totals 2,000 men, he will threaten Lieutenant General Inouye's left flank when the Japanese are ready to cross lower down on the Yalu. Being composed of cavalry, with a few mounted guns, Rennenkampf's force is extremely mobile.

Unless it should be disclosed it will compel Japan to leave a very strong army to guard the communication, whereas if a Japanese force should be sent to drive it out it would have to move directly away from the main army, while the Russian army, if compelled to fall back, can regress in the direction of the Russian troops concentrated in Manchuria.

KRUGER

Former President Transvaal Republic
Is in Excellent Health at Present,
It Is Said.

Nice, April 26.—The persistent rumors that former President Com Paul of the Transvaal is in a dejected state of health, seems to be without foundation. Your correspondent went to Montone today to ascertain whether these pessimistic reports were true or not. He was assured at Mr. Kruger's villa that the former president's health is excellent but that he is greatly annoyed at the reports of his illness.

PRESIDENT KRUGER.

A NEGRO WITH SMALLPOX

Was on a Train With Many Passengers

Seventy-Five Others Took to the Hills
When the Doctors Appeared to Vaccinate Them.

Portsmouth, O., April 26.—Clem Vaddell, a negro, was sent here from the camp at Mineral Springs today by a careless foreman of the Norfolk and Western construction crew after he had broken out with smallpox. Vaddell came in on a passenger train and hundreds of persons were exposed. Health Officer Smith learning of the man's arrival, hurriedly locked him up in the baggage room while the depot and train of cars were fumigated, after which the negro was removed to the pest house. The railroad company ordered physicians at Raden to vaccinate the remaining 75 laborers at Mineral Springs, but the negroes took to the hills and the physicians had a merry time rounding them up. Intense excitement prevails.

A COLLISION AT ST. LOUIS

Two Engines Telescoped,
Three Men Hurt.

Several Coaches Were Wrecked and Traffic Was Delayed for Several Hours Today.

St. Louis, Mo., April 26.—A head-on collision between B. & O. and Vandalia fast mail trains in the terminal yards this morning resulted in the telescoping of both locomotives, serious injury to three men and the wrecking of a number of coaches as well as delaying traffic several hours. The injured:

C. P. Riley, engineer, St. Louis, left side crushed and injured internally, serious.
Edward T. Ford, fireman, St. Louis, hips injured and bruised about body.
Edward J. Martin, postal clerk.
Geo. J. Dunlap, conductor, Cincinnati, Ohio, left arm broken and injured internally, serious.

Join Turkish Navy.

Constantinople, April 26.—It is stated that four American officers who are among the crew which navigated the Turkish cruiser Abdul Meded from Cramp's yard in Philadelphia to Turkey have signed contracts to join the Turkish navy. Captain Buckman, one of the officers, has been made a Turkish lieut. admiral, and given command of the Abdul Meded.

HONEYMOON IS INTERRUPTED

And the Bridegroom Now
Is in Jail

Charged With Bigamy—Society Event
Was the Wedding at Clyde, O.,
Recently

Chicago, April 26.—His honeymoon brought to a sudden end by Chicago detectives, his bride taken from his side, while he was locked in a cell at Central Police station on the charge of bigamy, W. S. Seabury, until recently a prosperous business man of Sandusky, Ohio, admits that his condition is unenviable.

It is said that his two wives have turned against him, and he will be compelled to face the charges without either woman's assistance.

A few days ago Seabury arrived in Chicago accompanied by his young wife, formerly Miss Irene Davenport of Clyde, Ohio. They intended to spend their honeymoon in Chicago. They were living in a fashionable boarding house, 852 North Park avenue, unaware that a woman had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Seabury, charging bigamy.

The first intimation of this was received by the man and woman when Detectives Magner and Fitzgerald, of Central Police station, called at the house late at night and served a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Ruth N. Seabury, who says that she is Seabury's first and lawful wife.

"This is an awful blunder," said Seabury.

"I am sure that this is a mistake," said his wife. But the detectives took him to Central Police station, where he was locked up.

Seabury was followed to the police station by his young wife, who continued to tell the detectives that they were making a mistake, and that they were ruining her happiness. At the police station she met Ruth Seabury, the complainant, and the aspect of the case was changed when she learned that her husband had been married before he met her.

"Yes, I married this woman, but I suppose that I had been divorced from her before I married you, dear," said Seabury. "A man in Pittsburg, whom I met some time ago, told me that you had secured a divorce from me," he added, addressing his first wife.

"Well, it is a mistake. I did not get a divorce from you," she replied. "I must say that it is—er awkward," said Seabury.

"Awkward, did you say?" cried both women.

The young man and woman had left the town on their honeymoon when the parents of the woman were informed that Seabury was married, and that his first wife was living.

The communication is said to have arrived in the form of a letter from Mrs. Ruth N. Seabury, who complained that she had been deserted by her husband. Friends and relatives were doubtful for a time, but were satisfied when confronted by the proofs in the possession of the woman who declared she was Seabury's first wife.

"We will then see that he is brought to justice," said E. D. Harkness, uncle of Mrs. Seabury No. 2, and formerly Mayor of Clyde.

"You may draw upon us for any amount in reason to be used in bringing Seabury to justice," he said.

Both women will probably appear against Seabury when he undergoes a preliminary examination before being taken back to Clyde to be tried on the bigamy charge.

The marriage of Seabury to Miss Davenport was a notable society event in Clyde, Ohio, April 6, and was very largely attended. E. D. Harkness, the bride's uncle, is very wealthy, and as Irene is his favorite niece she was married in his beautiful home, surrounded by the luxury of a society function.

A SOCIETY EVENT

Sandusky, O., April 26.—William B. Seabury of Chicago, who was arrested there on the charge of bigamy, married Miss Irene Davenport, a handsome young woman who until recently made her home in this city. The wedding, April 6, in the beautiful home of the bride's uncle, E. D. Harkness of Clyde, was a social event, and the guests included people from Cleveland, Cincinnati and Pittsburg.

LOUBET

Given a Big Ovation in a Parade at Rome Today—King Edward is in Ireland.

Rome, April 26.—A military review in which 20,000 troops participated, was held in honor of President Loubet today. The reviewing crowd was circled by a dense crowd of people. It seemed as though all Rome had turned out. President Loubet who was driving with the queen of Italy, repeatedly expressed his gratification at the reception accorded him.

Kingston, Ireland, April 26.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra landed on Irish soil this forenoon for their second visit since the coronation and were received with unbounded enthusiasm.

FIFTEEN TONS OF PURE GOLD

Taken to Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm

It Is Believed to be the First Payment on the $40,000 Purchase Price of the Panama Canal.

New York, April 26.—The North German Lloyd steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse with $6,000,000 of gold locked below her decks, will sail for Europe today. The treasure hoard is believed to be part of the first payment of the $40,000,000 to France for the Panama canal and is the largest shipment of gold made in the last three years. More gold would have been sent today, but the amount forwarded is up to the limit specified by the insurance companies for one ship. It is in bars and there are 15 tons of it packed in kegs.

FOUND

The Daughter He Lost During the War by Means of a Letter Written to a Friend.

Jackson, Miss., April 26.—That truth is stranger than fiction has once more been illustrated in the case of Mr. J. S. Box of Union county, Miss. Just prior to the war between the states, Mr. Box was living in the mountains of Northwest Alabama, where he married. When his only child a little girl, was 4 years old, Mr. Box responded to the call to arms, enlisting in the 26th Mississippi. During his long absence his wife died and the child was taken to live with a neighbor.

On his return from the war Mr. Box could not find his child, the family she had gone to live with having moved from the county. He spent several years searching for the little one, but as he did not know the name of the family never found her, and finally he gave up in despair.

Mr. Box recently wrote to an old friend in Alabama and incidentally mentioned his long-lost daughter. The letter was read around the family fire-side that night, and a man who happened to be present on a visit jumped to his feet and declared his belief that his own wife was the long-lost daughter of the writer of the letter, and was living in Cullman county, Alabama. Mr. Box was notified and went immediately to Alabama to see for himself. He had no trouble in establishing the identity of the daughter by a scar on her forehead.

CZARINA OF RUSSIA

Berlin, April 26.—The Lokal Anzeiger reports that the Czarina of Russia expects to be confined in August or September. The Czar, the paper adds, has expressed an intention of proceeding to the front immediately afterwards.

AUTO ACCIDENT KILLS NEWSPAPER MAN AND INJURES ARMY OFFICER.

Trenton, N. J., April 26.—George Holcomb, a well known Trenton newspaper man, died yesterday, and Capt. Y. Breese, of the Second Regiment New Jersey National Guard, is still unconscious at the Mercer hospital as the result of an automobile accident, which occurred about midnight. Breese, who was driving the automobile, lost control of the machine by reason of a break in the machinery.

OPENING OF WORLD'S FAIR

Commissioners in Session
Today.

Hundreds Are Busy in Every Department Now Putting on the Finishing Touches.

S. Louis, Mo., April 26.—As the date for the opening of the World's Fair draws near the efforts of all in authority to have everything in readiness by next Saturday are redoubled. Hundreds of men are at work in every department putting the finishing touches on the buildings and arranging the thousands of exhibits. About 600 men, divided into thirty gangs, are now employed by the landscape department of the exposition on various parts of the grounds.

The National World's Fair commission met in session at the Southern Hotel this morning to make final arrangements for opening day. All members of the commission were present. Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana, president, called the meeting to order and explained that this session would be the last until after the exposition was well under way.

An announcement was made for the commission today that the general program as arranged for April 30 would remain practically as it now stands.

The Greth airship of San Francisco, will compete in the $100,000 aeronautic race at the World's Fair.

The force of carpenters and decorators employed on the Chinese government pavilion at the fair went on strike Monday because of an alleged violation of a union rule by the contractors.

CHARACTER

As Shown in Man's Voice—Rules Are Given by Mrs. Clyde Pence in Address.

Chicago, April 26.—At the meeting of the woman's literary club Monday, Mrs. Clyde Pence told her fellow members how to "hear" a man's character in his voice. She gave the following rules:

Those who have a deep sonorous voice like that of a donkey, are indiscreet and quarrelsome.

Those having a sharp, thin, husky voice are weak and yield easily to temptations.

A full, abrupt voice denotes a strong, impulsive, bold enterprising man.

A powerful deep voice generally indicates cowardice.

The man possessing a voice which is deep at first but raised to a high key as he finishes speaking is noisy, irritable and of unhappy disposition.

Those having a thin shrill voice are peevish, ill-tempered and passionate.

A low sweet voice is an "admirable thing in woman."

SECOND

Attempt Was Made on the Life of Premier
Maura Near Madrid
Today.

Madrid, April 26.—A second attempt was made on the life of Premier Maura today. The premier, who was stabbed by young anarchist at Barcelona a fortnight ago, was shot at while traveling to Madrid from the former city today.

The shot passed through the top of the carriage. No one was injured. The attempt on the premier's life was made between Alicante and Encina.

The automobile ran into a ditch near the state hospital for the insane. Holcomb and Breese, who were on the front seat, were thrown out on their heads and both sustained concussion of the brain. U. H. Hilson and D. E. Lazier, who were also in the automobile, were thrown out, but were only slightly hurt. Breese's recovery is a matter of considerable doubt, as he may be injured internally.

Woman's Ills

How rare a thing to find a woman who is perfectly healthy. Fully seventy per cent. of the sex suffers from ailments which often render life a burden. These afflictions cause nervousness, irritability, melancholia, hysteria, etc. They curiously suit a woman for a life of work and deprive her of most of its joys.

AUNT DINAH'S OLD VIRGINIA

Herb Tea

WOMAN'S SAFE GUARD.

Those suffering with disordered menstruation, female weakness, prolapsus, etc., will find immediate relief from the use of Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea and in the majority of cases it will bring about a complete cure. It is a positive cure for chronic constipation, sick headache and indigestion. In cases of nervousness and sleeplessness this tea will be found indeed a boon. It has a soothing and quieting effect on the nerves and for the weary and restless sleep. A cupful at bedtime is all that is necessary to make a woman well and keep her well.

Mayesville, S. C., Dec. 8, 1902.
Having used Aunt Dinah's Old Virginia Herb Tea for several years, I can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine. I have not been troubled with any of the ailments mentioned above since I began using it. It is a most wonderful remedy and I take pleasure in recommending it to any lady who is suffering with female troubles.

JAPAN'S JOY IN GIVING.

Whole Nation Contributing to the War Funds.

AMUSEMENT HOUSES DESERTED.

Both Rich and Poor are Stinting Themselves in Every Possible Way For the Sake of the Men at the Front and Their Families—Women of Every Class Economizing in All Directions—Remarkable Cases of Self Sacrifice.

Japan is stinting itself as America did during the civil war and for the same double purpose—that the armies may be kept in the field and the burdens of those dependent on the nation's defenders lessened if not altogether removed, says the Tokyo correspondent of the Washington Star. There is pressing need of national and individual self sacrifice at this time. Already over 2,000 families of soldiers in Tokyo alone are dependent upon the nation's charity for their daily bread—rice, rather—and what is true in the capital is true throughout Nippon.

Japan is stinting from top to bottom. The high officials, peers and aristocrats have declared off all social engagements. The geisha houses are deserted, and many of them have closed from lack of patronage. So it is with the restaurants. Feasts there and in private houses—the Japanese are ordinarily great indulgers in feasts—are now the uncommon happening. Indeed, there has been no public feast of any sort—and, I dare say, scarcely a private one—since the second day after the first battle at Port Arthur, when the emperor entertained the high officials in celebration of the victory. That has been the single indulgence of the war.

The public school teachers have voluntarily agreed to give over to the various soldiers' aid societies one-tenth of their salaries as long as the war lasts. The housewives in many precincts of Tokyo are giving their pin money. In one precinct they recently contributed 200 yen. Every actor is giving 50 sen a month. The messenger boys have banded together and so far contributed 250 yen, at the rate of 70 to 80 sen a month apiece, for caring for wounded soldiers. The carpenters' wives are forming associations in every precinct and giving according to their means, cutting down on the family table that they may do so.

In Shibuya precinct—a precinct corresponds to an American ward—the janitors in the office buildings have agreed to cut down on their living expenses and give 20 sen (ten cents) per head a week till peace comes again. In the precinct of Shimabashi the Geisha association of 170 old houses is contributing 200 yen a month, most of this coming from savings, for the income of these houses, as already remarked, has fallen off greatly.

The women, irrespective of class, are economizing in all directions. The Ladies' One Heart society—the Fujii Isshiunki—is representative of their organizations. This society embraces the women of the middle class, and its members are saving on their food and their hairdressing and bath money. They visit the baths only once a week now instead of daily. Indeed, every member must make it a point to save something daily for "a bandage for a soldier's leg or rice for his mother's mouth."

Those who cannot pare their expenses because they are down to the bone already are stinting themselves of their leisure time. The errand boys of the wholesale and retail districts have formed an association to make straw sandals for the soldiers after working hours. Each boy manufactures about fifty pairs a week. Some of the boys, not content with this sacrifice, beg waste paper from the stores and go around peddling it, getting 2 cents for every ten pounds of paper and turning the proceeds into a common fund.

The doctors, masseurs and midwives are giving their services free of charge to the families of soldiers, and the rich-shaw man, Mukubata Jisaburo, who saved the czar's life when the latter, as czarowitz, was traveling in Japan, is contributing the pension which the Russian government granted him for his act. He says it is the only way by which he can ease his conscience for receiving money from the nation's enemy at such a time.

Indeed, Nippon is so imbued with the spirit of self sacrifice that it gets well nigh hysterical at times to give. This was illustrated a few days ago when Sonoda Kokichi, formerly president of the Yokohama Specie bank of Japan, during the course of a lecture before the Kokumin Kenyonkai (the Mutual Aid Society for Citizens), called upon the assembled nobles, merchants and bankers to give their jewelry for the amelioration of the conditions among the poor.

Instantly the audience was in an uproar—gold watches, rings, pins, all sorts of personal ornaments, were literally being torn from their fastenings and thrown at the speaker. Several hundred pieces of jewelry, valued at a good many thousand yen, were contributed in a few minutes, and when the meeting was over hardly a person left the hall with a bit of jewelry showing about him. Since then, as one of the newspapers quaintly puts it, "even the officials are afraid to wear rings for fear of being called the models of fools."

Mr. Sonoda has been one of the heaviest individual contributors to the aid societies. The day after the demonstration at his lecture he gave seven gold watches, a chain and 18,000 yen in money. Mr. Sonoda's liberality has made him one of the most popular citizens of Tokyo today.

A banking, mining and dry goods house, which has American and London branches, has, perhaps, made the largest single contribution—100,000 yen, or $30,000.

By reason of their contributions, which have been made largely to the Red Cross society, the foreigners are universally acclaimed. Miss Ethel Howard, the English governess in the family of Marquis Shintadzu, a feudal lord, is being blessed by the soldiers' families, who have somehow heard of her letter to her employer's attorney in which she states that she declines to accept her salary for six months, wishing it to be used to succor soldiers' families.

But the man who has given his all for the success of his fellow countrymen is Kinouchi Sei-ichiro, head of a company doing business in Manchuria and Siberia. He was worth 40,000 rubles when the war broke out. He saw the distress of his countrymen who were in Harbin with him, and he knew of their suffering elsewhere in the enemy's country. So he took his money, gave enough to each Jap to get him out of the country and arranged with German steamers to pick up the refugees at the different ports and carry them to Nagasaki.

In this way hundreds of Japs reached home in safety, but Kinouchi remained in Harbin, saying that he would not leave until every Jap in Manchuria was safe. Then, he said, he would disguise himself as a Chinaman and escape. But no word has come from Kinouchi, and no trace can be got of him, and the belief is gradually increasing that he has been caught by the Russians and executed as a spy.

If such is the case, it is safe to assume from the way even the Kinouchi-shaw men are now praising Kinouchi's generous act that he will become one of the heroes of the war.

One of the most unusual features of this ecstasy of giving is seen daily on the streets. The country people are bringing their horses by the hundreds into town as their contributions to the welfare of the nation. Before parting with their animals they industriously comb their manes, lavishly caress them, call them a multitude of pet names and bid them goodbye at length. "And the horses," says the Jiji Shimbun, "seem to appreciate the words of their masters and droop their heads in sorrow."

HERO FOR CARNEGIE MEDAL

Watchman Risked Life to Save Capitalist's Family From Fire.

Thomas A. Shanahan, a private watchman in St. Louis, who risked his life the other night to help several persons escape from a burning house, is the first man to be proposed as a candidate for one of Andrew Carnegie's heroism medals, says a St. Louis special dispatch.

The fire was in the palatial home of John Scullin, the St. Louis street car capitalist, and Mrs. Scullin, her nephew, Henry Scullin, a New York youth, who is visiting her, and her maid, Maggie Riley, would have lost their lives had not Shanahan taken prompt and fearless action.

Shortly after midnight Shanahan saw smoke coming from the house. Opening the basement door with his key, he ran through the kitchen, which was rapidly filling with smoke and flame, and a fresh burst of flame met him as he plunged into the pantry, but he dashed for the staircase leading to the second floor and hurried to awaken Mrs. Scullin, whose room is immediately over the dining room.

He knocked loudly at the door, and Mrs. Scullin arose. Shanahan then started to the third floor to call the maid. Mrs. Scullin hurried to the guest chamber and aroused her nephew. The maid gathered up Mrs. Scullin's jewels, valued at $100,000, and then started for the veranda. As they reached it they heard Shanahan struggling with the door.

Between them they battered out the panels, making a hole just big enough to allow of their exit. Mr. Scullin was in New York.

Popularity of the Walking Stick.

For the past few years walking sticks have been more generally used by the gentlemen of the frock coat. They will, however, be seen on all occasions during the spring and summer season, says the Sartorial Art Journal. The well groomed man carries his walking stick to business for service all through the day, and the man who spends but a few hours about the business district of town likewise leans on his stick. Some are of white walnut stained with acid to the taste of the owner. English furze is very popular, as are likewise the Madagascari and cherry. Partridge wood and the pimenta are sought, and oak is always in demand. It would be quite impossible to say what style of handle is most favored. Each is good if not clumsy in treatment. Thoroughbred carry the cane for service rather than to twirl in the hand.

The Poverty Stricken Koreans.

"Not long ago I was in Korea and got a close view of the condition of the people," said Mr. A. McKenzie of Edinburgh to a Washington Post reporter. "In all my travels I never saw such a poverty stricken people as the Koreans. They are just one degree removed from the starvation mark all the time. In fact, it is hardly possible for them to get to any sort of affluent condition, for the minute one shows the least sign of prosperity forthwith the government swoops down on him and taxes him back to poverty. They simply cannot escape their pauper fate."

With an Eye On Phillipa

By T. Blair Eaton

Copyright, 1913, by T. C. McClure

Mr. George Clavering drew his chair nearer the lamp, relighted the half consumed cigar and read his sister's note again:

We are both delighted at your thoughtfulness in asking Phillipa to spend the month with you at the Cedars. I'm afraid you'll scarcely know the dear child with the eight years she has added since you last saw her. She is quite beside herself with anticipation. In her mind Uncle George and archangels are synonyms. I must caution you, dear, to keep an eye on Phillipa while she is with you. I confess she is an incorrigible flirt. Henry sends his warmest regards. Your affectionate sister, ALICE.

Mr. Clavering laid the note on the library table with a perplexed frown. He was a widower of several years' standing, and moreover, he was childless. The ways of this younger generation of girls he knew nothing about. When he had asked his sister to send her daughter to him for a month, he had mentally pictured Phillipa as still thirteen, clad in muslin frocks and made perennially happy by a simple supply of sweetmeats.

The note brought to his mind the fact that Phillipa was twenty-one. It also conveyed the news that she was "an incorrigible flirt." The request that he "keep an eye on Phillipa" suggested complications. For a moment he was tempted to countermand the invitation. Then he laughed grimly and straightened himself in the chair. Phillipa should come, and Alice should have no cause to censure him. He would "keep an eye on Phillipa."

Phillipa came—a happy, charming, radiant creature, with a pair of dark eyes that would melt a stone and a silvery laugh that would thrill a graven image. Clavering felt a glow of avuncular pride as he beheld her. At the same time he realized the magnitude of the task before him, and his heart sank.

"It's a mighty quiet place here," he explained. "I saw some awfully interesting looking men as we drove over from the station," she said. "I'm sure you know a lot of them."

Clavering bristled perceptibly. "The young men of this place," he announced oracularly, "are of two classes—fools and demons."

"I think I shall prefer the demons," said Phillipa sweetly.

Phillipa had not been two days at the Cedars when Roderick Winters came over to smoke an evening cigar with Clavering. Winters was twenty-eight and not particularly impressive. However, when his eyes met Phillipa's he was as clay in the potter's hand. Clavering saw this was the beginning; he took a long breath as one who intends to run a good race.

To those who knew Mr. Clavering his behavior during the next few weeks was inexplicable. When Winters took Phillipa to the links, Uncle George went with them, although it was known that hitherto a mere mention of golf was sufficient to open the flood gates of his vituperation. More than this, he went over the course with them, making desperate lunges—with the wrong club—at the elusive ball and secretly determining to return later and stealthily assassinate the whole crew of grinning caddies.

He had never been a dancing man, yet when Winters took Phillipa to the Country club he was Uncle George who managed to dance with her the greater part of the evening. His waltzing reminded one of some stately waltz gone wrong, and he was hopelessly tangled in the figures of the newer dances. Still, with Spartan courage he stuck to it, and when finally Winters had spirited Phillipa to a corner of the veranda where the moonlight was particularly supine, Uncle George came striding up with a cheerfully obtuse smile on his perspiring face.

The day of the hunt he rode ahead after the party, taking fences that sent shivers coursing up and down his spine and putting his horse to water jumps which materially increased his gray hairs. Whenever his niece might be there was Uncle George. He was "keeping an eye on Phillipa."

"I don't know how you class Mr. Winters," Phillipa said one evening. "He isn't a fool, and he doesn't seem—"

had been sailing with Winters that afternoon in the rough waters around the outer ledge, and the qualms of the deep were still strong upon him.

It was the last day of Phillipa's stay at the Cedars. Clavering was congratulating himself that on the morrow she would be gone. Then, to use his own expression, he would go into dry dock for repairs. As Phillipa and her uncle sat on the veranda after lunch Winters came up the drive in his powerful touring car.

"Oh, I say, Miss Trent," he said, "this is your last day here, and I haven't shown you the Knob. Shant we take a run over there?"

"Delightful," murmured Phillipa, rising. "See here," said Clavering, "I haven't been over to the Knob since I was a boy. Do you mind taking me along?"

"Join us by all means," said Winters, with a cheerfulness marked "counterfeit" all over it.

The prospective departure of Phillipa seemed to affect the two men very differently. All the afternoon, during the ride and the climb to the summit of the Knob, Clavering was as light hearted as a boy. Winters was taciturn almost to sullenness. Phillipa was pensive.

When it was time to return, Clavering climbed into the car first and fondled the brakes and levers. "I believe I could run the thing myself," he observed.

"Simple as A B C," said Winters. "You steer with this, eh," said Uncle George, "and start it with this—so?" The touring car started ahead. "Ha! I thought so. How do you stop her? Hey! Rod, how do you stop her?"

A sudden inspiration came to Winters. "Shove that lever down," he shouted—"way down."

The car sprang ahead at full speed. Clavering gasped and shouted something which was lost in the roar of the laboring gear. Steering wildly, the car reeling from one side of the road to the other, he went banging up the road and disappeared over the crest of a little hill in a cloud of dust.

"Oh!" cried Phillipa in dismay. "Oh, how could you! He may be killed."

"He deserves to be," said Winters grimly. Some twenty minutes later the red touring car appeared on the crest of the hill, coming in their direction. In it was Clavering, hatless, covered with dust, but triumphant. He brought his serpentine course to a finish in front of Winters and Phillipa.

"I've got the hang of it now," he cried joyfully. "Stopped her all by myself; turned her round too. Knocked a piece out of Creighton's fence, but I've got the hang of it anyway!"

Winters' drooping spirits seemed to have revived. "You left us rather unceremoniously, Clavering," said he. "And the method of your departure rather worried us too. But while you were gone—"

"Yes, while you were gone"—put in Phillipa. She stopped abruptly and flushed.

Clavering looked at them in stunned silence. Winters cleared his throat. "As long as you've got the hang of it don't you want to take another little spin while we decide where we'll spend our honeymoon?"

Clavering smiled weakly. "If you'll trust me with the machine, Rod," he said, "I'll wobble to the station and telegraph Alice."

Why He Smiled a Slightly Smile.

A member of the London Stock Exchange was married a short time ago, and of course the first time he appeared on change after the honeymoon he was subjected to many congratulations and much good natured bantering. One of his friends, after congratulating him, suddenly reached over and took a long brown hair from his shoulder.

"Looks bad in a married man, Ticker," he exclaimed, holding it up to the light.

"Oh, that's all right," replied Ticker, smiling. "It's my wife's."

"No, no; that won't do," responded the friend. "Your wife's hair is darker than that."

This made Ticker a trifle angry, and he exclaimed excitedly: "I tell you it's my wife's. I fancy I know my wife's hair when I see it."

"Well, you certainly ought to," said the friend. "But are you sure?"

"Sure? Of course I am. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, I thought perhaps there might be some mistake. You see, I found it on Brown's shoulder just before I saw you."—Tit-Bits.

Too Inquisitive.

The person who equivocates in order to pay a compliment is likely to have his discretion betrayed if the complimented person questions him at all sharply. The author of a certain book which had made extremely little impression, meeting one of his literary friends, insisted upon talking with him a long time about the volume.

"Come, now," said the author, "tell me what you hear about the book?"

"I assure you," answered the other, "that I have heard nothing but the most favorable and enthusiastic opinions of it."

"Oh, that's good! Well, tell me who has talked to you about it?"

"I'm well. I can't tell you exactly."

"Yes, you can. I insist."

"Well, then, since you insist, you're the only one that I've heard say a word about it."

"Man's Modesty."

"Do you believe," she asked, "that a genius can possibly be a good husband?"

"Well," he modestly replied, "I would prefer not to answer that question. But my wife ought to be able to tell you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

OXFORD AS ITS MODEL

Chicago University Plans Great Series of Small Colleges.

A QUADRANGLE FOR EACH SEX.

Buildings to Cost Between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000—Dormitories For Every College—Eighteen Buildings For Women Students and a Fine Gymnasium—Novel Plan For Supplying Food.

Announcement of a plan new in American educational policy, the development of which will involve the expenditure of more than $3,000,000, was made the other day at the University of Chicago. The plan, which has been worked out by a commission headed by Professor Ernest D. Burton, consists of the adoption of the system of colleges in vogue at Oxford university, says the Chicago Tribune. The object is closer association of students and faculty. It applies to the first two years of college.

Separate colleges of arts, literature, science and other branches will be organized, with separate recitation halls, dormitories and faculties. These colleges, however, will be under the general administration of the higher university authorities. The matriculating students will choose their college and will for two years be members of it, after which time they will reside on the campus.

The scheme, which is the result of over a year's study on the part of the commission, has been worked out in detail in connection with the plans for the segregated women's quadrangle to be built on the square bounded by Fifty-eighth street, the Midway, Woodlawn and Kimbark avenues. The buildings to be erected there will cost between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 and will be begun as soon as any considerable part of the money is in sight.

The plans for the men's quadrangle, on the blocks bounded by Fifty-eighth street, the Midway, Ellis and Drexel avenues, have not yet been worked out in detail, but a similar organization of different colleges, each with its own dormitory, is intended, and the outlay will be the same as for the women's halls.

For the women's quadrangle eight-story buildings will be erected in the square. In the middle of the north and south frontages will be a recitation hall, through which an arched entrance way will be cut, these two entrances to be the only means of access to the inner quadrangle.

Around the four sides of the block sixteen dormitories will be erected. These will be divided off in sets of four, to each of which will be assigned one-half of one of the recitation halls. The four dormitories and their recitation hall will constitute a college.

There will be a college of arts around the northwest corner, a college of science around the southwest corner, a college of literature around the southeast corner and a college of arts and literature combined around the northeast corner. Each of these colleges will contain accommodations for 175 resident students, together with rest and study rooms for 125 day students living at home in the city. In the middle of the square will be an assembly hall and a clubhouse, in which will be the library.

A novel feature of the plan is the food supply. To keep away from the quadrangle as much as possible of the hard work of food preparation a commissary depot will be established near Fifty-eighth street and Ellis avenue. Here all the baking will be done and all the rougher work preliminary to the final cooking of the food. Requisitions from each dormitory will be sent to the supply house every morning, and wagons will deliver the half prepared food at entrances on Kimbark and Woodlawn avenues, from which tinned carts, will lead to the several dormitories.

A new gymnasium for the co-eds, rivaling that of the men, is to be built across the street, in the block bounded by Lexington and Woodlawn avenues and by Fifty-eighth street and the Midway. In this block in time will be included also the buildings for the school of fine arts, which is one of Dr. Harper's dreams.

The money with which to pay for the new buildings has not yet been all secured. President Harper has interested the club women of Chicago in the scheme, and committees from many of the clubs are now working on the plans to raise the necessary funds. It is expected also, of course, that Mr. Rockefeller will do his share in providing the endowment when the right time comes.

The new buildings are a part of President Harper's policy of segregation. Only the women of the first two years will attend the new colleges exclusively. During the junior and senior years the women will have classes with the men on the campus proper.

Another club woman, Mrs. Haule, of Edgerton, Wis., tells how she was cured of irregularities and uterine trouble, terrible pains and backache, by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did not help me. I remembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial.

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—MRS. FINE TIME

Is the Emperor of China's Cousin Having in Washington—The Day's Program.

Washington, April 26.—Prince Pu Lun Tsee, the nephew of the Chinese emperor, woke up this morning feeling just a little bit the worse for the excitement of yesterday. His experience in Col. Symons "red devil" wagon had been the most thrilling in Prince Pu Lun's life. He was whizzed from the Willard Hotel to the Soldiers' Home in about eight minutes. The speed laws of the district were smashed to smithereens at every turn of the rubber tired wheels, but as the bicycle cops had been given due notice of the excursion and could not have stopped them had they tried, the royal visitor and his guides were not molested on the way.

Prince Pu Lun gripped the sides of the automobile's tonneau all the way and became a shade paler, but smiled gamely throughout the trip and at the end declared that he had had a magnificent time. After the visit to the home, the prince was taken to a fire engine house where the firemen slid down the brass poles and the horses and engines were turned out at a mock alarm. This afternoon the prince was entertained at luncheon by Secretary of State Hay. President Roosevelt was one of the distinguished guests. After the luncheon, the prince will be given a tea by Mr. and Mrs. John W. Forester. The last item of the prince's entertainment at the capital will be introduction to Countess Cassini's red cross bazaar this evening.

Washington, April 26.—When the Senate met today, it passed the bill dividing Oregon into two judicial districts, also one establishing an assay office at Portland, Oregon. The military academy appropriation bill was taken up.

REFUSED

WAS LICENSE FOR A NEWARK GIRL IN KENTUCKY

Owing to Youthful Appearance of the Couple—Mother is Willing—A Statement.

Cincinnati, April 26.—Perry Sydney Northon and Bessie A. Forgrave, elopers, were refused a marriage license in Covington and Newport, Ky., yesterday on account of their youthful appearances.

Bessie A. Forgrave, mentioned in the above special, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forgrave, and until before Christmas last, had lived with her parents, rear of 74 German street. At that time she went to Columbus and worked in a laundry there. She became a talented musician, who proposed came acquainted with young Northon marriage and was accepted. He is the son of well to do parents, who live in New Orleans, and there were no objections on the part of either parents to the marriage. Mrs. Forgrave has been told by her daughter several weeks ago of her approaching marriage, and was surprised to learn that a license had been refused the couple.

Bessie is nearly 21 years of age and Northon is about 22. It was their intention to make New Orleans their home and the young woman's mother is of the opinion that they expected to be married en route, which explains their attempt to procure a license in Kentucky.

Warm Weather Coming.
A large flock of wild geese was observed passing over the city on Monday afternoon, flying in a northeasterly direction. The birds were flying in the form of two sides of a triangle. Their usual mode of traveling, with scouts out on both sides. The fact that the geese were flying north is a sure harbinger of warm weather.

Sheppard Grocery Sold.
Mr. Harvey Sheppard, who has so successfully conducted the grocery on Church street for the past nine years, today sold the store to Mr. T. F. Andrews one of Lancaster's hustling men who recently located in Newark. Mr. George Avey, who was formerly with Mr. Sheppard, will be chief clerk for Mr. Andrews. Mr. Sheppard has not yet decided what business he will engage in in the future.

Tracy's Grocery.
Mr. W. T. Tracy, the well known grocer, has recently removed his grocery store to room 23, in the Warden block on the south side of the public square. The room has been nicely remodeled to suit the grocery business, and Mr. Tracy has stocked it full of up to date groceries. Mr. Tracy has been in the business for 21 years, in Newark, and thoroughly understands the needs of his customers.

Successful Concert.
The auditorium of the Market street Baptist church was crowded on Friday evening when the Glee and Mandolin club of Denison university gave a concert. The affair was under the auspices of the Buker club and was very successful both from a financial standpoint and from the merit of the entertainment. Prof. Arthur L. Judson is director of the club and both the glee and the mandolin club selections were a great credit to him. His violin solos were highly appreciated and called forth enthusiastic encores. The vocal selections of Mr. Stickney were delightful.—Advocate's Signal.

Buys Shaw Farm.
J. W. Taylor, president of the Taylor Land and Improvement company, of Cleveland, has been in Newark for the past several days looking for land with which to open an allotment sale. The result is that he has purchased 45 acres from C. C. Shaw, this side of the encampment grounds. This land will be improved and placed on the market within a few weeks. Streets will be laid out and graded and two rows of trees will be planted on each side of the streets. People desiring to purchase lots in this part of the city should watch the Advocate for the first advertisement which will appear in the near future.

St. Paul's Church.
Beginning Wednesday evening at 8:20, Pastor Schindler will supplement the regular conference work of his Bible school teachers with a series of Normal Bible and Training lessons. These lectures are given to aid efficiency and uniformity in the Bible school work of St. Paul's church. The lectures will be followed with a free discussion. The conferences already held have been found most helpful. The subject for Wednesday evening will be "The Canon of the Old Testament." A class of catechumens preparing for confirmation on Trinity Sunday was organized at St. Paul's Lutheran church yesterday afternoon. The class will meet every Monday at 7 p. m.

Little Bo Peep.
This beautiful little opera will be given at the Auditorium Friday evening, April 29, and Saturday matinee, April 30, with all the eclat and brilliant effect obtainable in the splendidly equipped play house of which our city boasts as one of the best in Ohio. The chorus of 200 school children are rehearsing industriously every evening after school, and the cast is composed of the most talented of Newark's juvenile singers, also several popular concert singers who have not before appeared in opera. Prof. Yeardley has discovered several voices never before heard in public, and in the general ensemble a rich treat is in store for the large audiences who will undoubtedly assemble to hear "Little Bo Peep."

Happy Bert and child Pearl will be at Vanatta Wednesday, April 27. Pearl the child ventriloquist.

JAPANESE POETRY.

It Would Seem to Disappoint the Idea of a Yellow Peril.

"Talking about the yellow peril, did you ever stop to think about the people of Japan seriously?" asked a man who thinks well of the Flowery Kingdom. "If you have not it would be well for you to look into a few things before you make up your mind on the issues involved in the struggle now being made in the far east. For instance, here is a thing I take from Japanese verse of about the eighth century:

"SHE.

"While other women's husbands ride
Along the road in proud array,
My husband up the rough hillside
On foot must wend his weary way.

"The grievous sight with bitter pain
My bosom fills, and many a tear
Streaks down my cheek, and I would fain
Do ought to help my husband dear.

"Come! Take the mirror and the veil,
My mother's parting gifts to me.
In barter they must surely avail
To buy a horse for thee!

"But listen to what the husband says
In response to this noble offer:

"If I should purchase me a horse,
Must not my wife still sadly walk?
No, no! Though stony is our course,
We'll trudge along as sweetly talk.

"Now, what do you think of that for a yellow peril? What do the men and women of this beautiful and altogether delightful country think about the people who would thus regard the sacred relationship which ought to exist between the husband and the wife? I will not press the question. At any rate there is no such thing as a yellow peril when you come to think of it. Firstly, here is a man who was considering his wife in an affectionate way, in a section of the world where we did not expect to find it. But mark you with what nobility she met the issue:

"Take the mirror and the veil,
My mother's parting gifts to me.

"This is no small offer for a woman to make. She loves the mirror and the veil. She will love them more if they are her mother's parting gifts. Yet there is somehow ample compensation in the refusal and the promise of the husband:

"We'll trudge along and sweetly talk.
"My dear fellow, the Jap is not a heathen. He is very far from it. He is probably farther from it than we dream at times. At any rate let us forget the yellow peril."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Eggs New Yorkers Eat.

Few people are aware of the venerable age of the average egg that reaches the New York market. From some litigation between an egg commission house and a wholesale egg company in Iowa interesting facts are disclosed. The case has just been decided by the appellate division. On the 20th of April, 1890, the plaintiff bought five carloads of eggs of the Iowa company. These were kept in storage in Sioux City until the following winter, and all of them did not reach this city until Jan. 8, 1900. But then they did not reach the market, for there was a dispute as to their condition and quality, the purchaser maintaining that they were not of the quality ordered and the seller replying that any deterioration was due to the time in storage. Then the purchaser sold them for what he could get and sued the Iowa folks for the difference between what he received and what he would have received had the eggs been up to the standard claimed. He won, and his judgment was affirmed. And the public ate the eggs.—New York Times.

Advertisements on the Flag.

The denial of the power of a state legislature to prohibit the use of the national flag for advertising on the ground that it is not a proper exercise of the police power implicitly denies that any question of public policy of the state is involved in such use of the flag or else denies that the legislature is the proper authority to determine what such public policy is. Though two able courts have decided that such a statute is unconstitutional, there seems to be nevertheless much reason in contending that this is a question of public policy, which it is the business of the legislature and not of the courts to decide. But if it be correct to hold that the state law cannot prohibit the use of a representation of the flag in connection with advertising it does not follow that congress might not do so.—Case and Comment.

LAST HOURS

Of the Legislature Which Adjourned Since Die Monday Afternoon—What Was Done.

Columbus, April 26.—The Seventy-sixth General Assembly adjourned sine die after a stirring session, during which a large number of bills were passed. The three most important acts were the adoption of the conference report on schools which, with the Governor's signature, will make the new school code a law; the introduction and passage of a new direct inheritance tax law, which taxes all bequests of over $3,000 2 per cent, and the defeat of the administration constitutional amendment seeking to exempt stocks, bonds, notes, monies and credits from the general and uniform laws of valuation applied to real estate and other tangible property.

By a decisive vote the House killed a bill providing for the appointment of a commission to study the fees and salary question. During the last hour of the session it was found that no bill had been passed to appropriate the common school fund. The bill was rushed through under suspension of rules.

THE POPE

Sends His Sympathy to Colored People of United States Who Entered Complaint.

Topeka, Kansas, April 26.—Nick Chiles, editor of the Topeka Plain Dealer, a negro paper published in this city, has received a letter from Pope Pious X.

The Western Negro Press Association, of which Chiles is president, at its annual meeting, adopted a resolution urging the Pope to use his good offices for better treatment of the negro race in this country.

Mr. Chiles gave a copy of the resolution to Senator Burton, who sent it to Cardinal Gibbons, he in turn forwarded it to Rome.

The letter from the Pope, which came through Cardinal Gibbons, says: "I have much pleasure in assuring you that His Holiness has read the resolution with interest and sympathy, and I am commissioned to thank you and all your associates very cordially in his name. The Sovereign Pontiff is well aware that there are many Catholics among the negroes of the United States and this knowledge increases his interest in the welfare of your race. His Holiness, as the vicar of Christ, extends his loving care to every race, with out exception, and he must necessarily use his good offices to urge all Catholics to be friendly to negroes, who are called, no less than other men, to share in all the great benefits of the redemption."

"The life and example of St. Peter Claver and of so many other Catholic missionaries are there to show that this is no new conception of the apostolate entrusted to the church of Christ. "Whilst frankly admitting that crimes may often be committed by members of the negro race, His Holiness advocates for them the justice granted to other men by the laws of the land and a treatment in keeping with the tenets of Christianity. "I am confident that these sentiments are shared by the vast majority of American people and by those who are responsible for the custody of the principles underlying the American constitution."

RINGLING'S SHOW

Will be in Newark Saturday, May 7—The Street Parade Different from All Others.

The circus parade has at last, thanks to Ringling Brothers, reached the dignity of good taste, instructive feature, and discriminating approval. This street display, peculiar to all circuses, until Ringling Brothers came into the field with fresh ideas, was a rather stale parade, in which the tawdry and unkempt laid heavy and gloomy hold of everybody and everything. With the advent of this famous successful circus firm came the well groomed man and horse, the splendid chariot and cage of distinguished style and tasteful colorings, the numerous open dens of the rarest wild animals, the inventive and never vulgar clown, squadrons of symmetrical equestrian of aristocratic breeding, riders modestly dressed and erect with the hall mark of culture, allegorical wagons picturing historic persons and scenes, lilliputian cages and tabernacle floats for children's eyes and hearts, army types in companies and correctly uniformed and equipped, elephants strung out for a wide city block, and numbering forty or more, herds of sleepy-eyed camels, trained domestic animals, musical vehicles of different kinds, the only cathedral pipe organ—the largest portable one ever made, and used in a street pasquant, a mounted band, and many other unique and exclusive features, which separated the Ringling Brothers' free circus pageant from all others, and made it the most fascinating event of each year. This season Ringling Brothers' street parade is longer than ever, and more radiantly beautiful in costume, decorative cages and chariots, and splendid exhibit of handsome wild animals and shapely, high-bred equines. All of the 125 men, women and children employed with the enormous shows take some part in the pasquant. This procession leaves the show grounds at 10 o'clock sharply, and follows the usual route over the principal streets. Ringling Brothers' circus will be in Newark, on May 7.

Will the person who exchanged an umbrella at Assembly Hall Friday evening call up Citizens White 62 or S. J. R. at Emerson's.

"PASS THE BILL AND ROB THE DEAD"

Said Senator Houck, as the Republicans Were Rushing Through the Special Inheritance Tax to Raise More Money to Meet Increased Expenditures.

Columbus, April 26.—Following the conference in the governor's office, Mr. Russell of Meigs, introduced a new direct inheritance tax measure, commonly known as the "death tax," which differs from the old by exempting $3,000 from all estates for each legatee. Foster of Ross, read an opinion from Attorney General Ellis, that any exempting above $200 would be unconstitutional.

Russell said Ellis has charged his mind and has drawn the new bill.

Elley offered an amendment to place a tax on shrouds and coffins. It was voted down.

Russell's measure passed. Yeas 65, nays 22.

All of the Democrats present and several Republicans voted no.

Columbus, O., April 26.—The amended direct inheritance tax bill was returned to the Senate in record time, after being passed by the House. Houck tried to amend it by exempting under $5,000 instead of $3,000. It was voted down by the Republicans.

"Strangle it, if you want to," shouted Houck. "Pass the bill and rob the dead."

West claimed the bill was unconstitutional. Stewart held the same. Carter of Wyandotte attacked the principle of the bill. He said:

"If the Republicans need more money to pay excessive appropriations and salaries raised sky high by this legislature, let it raise the state levy. If this is Hunaism, as between that and Forakerism, had as it is, give me the latter for it never tried to enforce such ungodly legislation as this. It did not go into the grave for revenue." The bill passed, 24 to 6.

TO A PEG

The Aged Man Hanged Himself, Because His Grandson Had Come to Fear Him.

Huntington, Ind., April 26.—Despondent because his grandson 2 years old had been taught to regard him with fear, morose because the youngster was no longer allowed to sit on his knee, Fred Schultz, an employee of the Western Line company of this city, committed suicide. The body was found by his youngest son, Harmon.

Schultz made a noose of a halter, and, after adjusting it about his neck, the other end being tied to a stout peg in the wall, he leaped from the chair in which he stood. Death was due to strangulation.

Schultz was always a great lover of children, and was particularly fond of his blue-eyed, rosy-cheeked grandson, whom he was wont to entertain by riding him on his knee and telling him stories.

Two weeks ago, according to the story of Mrs. Swain, his daughter, who had been keeping house for him, the old gentleman quarreled with her. Since then she kept her boy close to her apron string, and the lad, it is said, came to be afraid of his one-time Peter Pindar.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY

Are the Statements of Newark Citizens not More Reliable than Those of Utter Strangers?

This is the vital question. It is fraught with interest to Newark.

It permits of only one answer. It cannot be evaded or ignored. A Newark citizen speaks here. A citizen's statement is reliable. An utter stranger's doubtful. Home proof is the best proof.

DISGRACE TO OHIO

Shameful Conduct of Legislative Committee at Xenia Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home.

(Toledo News-Bee.)

At the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' home at Xenia the children are being taught journalism. There is a publication called The Home Weekly, which says on its title page that it is "Published by and for the Children of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home."

In the issue of Friday, April 15, we find the following report of the visit of certain members of the legislature to the home:

"The committee of the house of representatives on this institution spent last night at the home, arriving at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and being obliged to return this morning for important business before the house. Two senators and three representatives not members of the committee, besides the wives and other friends of the committee were in the party."

"A reception was given in their honor at the administration building which was attended by the officers, teachers and matrons. The halls were handsomely decorated, and refreshments consisting of sherbet and cakes were served."

Then followed a list of the names of the legislative party.

In the Xenia Herald, however, we find an entirely different report of the visit of the law makers to the home. We republish portions of the headlines:

"Outrageous and Dastardly Behavior of Members of Legislative Committee at the Home."

"Drunk, Disorderly, Demonic, Desperate and Dangerous Doings in the Third Story of the Administration Building."

"Sacred Retreat of Lady Teachers Burglariously Invaded."

Then follows an account of how members of the legislature got drunk in the administration building at this home for children, ran around the corridors in their night gowns, played leap frog and yelled like Comanche Indians.

They went up to the third floor, which was occupied by lady employees of the home, went into their rooms, where these women were sleeping, threw cold water on the sleeping women, then rushed out when the women screamed, pounded on the doors, threw water and objects through the transoms and generally terrorized the women.

The same paper quotes the superintendent of the home as saying that the episode was considered as merely a boyish lark.

Would it not be better for the men responsible for the conduct of that home for children to have more consideration for the children and less for the members of the legislature?

Are the children to be taught lying journalism?

Is it right to give them the impression that such outrageous conduct on the part of any men is more than a mere boyish lark? And that such conduct on the part of representatives in the legislature is much worse than it would be on the part of ignorant, besotted men who didn't know any better?

Is this boyish lark to be passed over in silence? Or will the great state of Ohio vindicate itself in the eyes of those children and show to them that no man is big enough in this state to be indecent and escape either censure or exposure.

Consider the children. They are entitled to more of it than grown men who got drunk in a children's home and acted like brutes and bar room loafers. Investigate this outrage, and let those children know that even legislators and law makers must obey the laws of decency.

OLDEST MAN

In Ohio Was Jerry Gleason Who Was Buried Near Mr. Vernon Tuesday Morning.

Mt. Vernon, O., April 26—"Uncle" Jerry Gleason, the oldest resident in Ohio who died Sunday night in his home near Mt. Vernon, was buried this morning. He was 110 years old. He was born in Tipperary county, Ireland, December 17, 1793. He took part in the war of 1812, the Mexican war and the civil war.

"Uncle" Jerry was an intimate friend of President Andrew Jackson and very much resembled him. Until the last two months he was well preserved in health and intellect, and engaged in work about the farm.

THE RAILWAYS

BRUNSWICK-BIRMINGHAM ROAD IN RECEIVER'S HANDS.

A Wabash Loan—Sweeping Boycott—Germany Needs Roads in African Colonies—Notes

Savannah, Ga., April 26—The Brunswick and Birmingham railroad has been placed in the hands of a receiver, J. R. L. Smith of Macon, Ga., upon petition of E. C. Machen, formerly president of the road. The order was granted by Judge Speer of the United States court for the Southern District of Georgia, on Saturday at Macon.

Machen alleges that the road is indebted to him in the amount of $5,000 for services rendered. The Atlantic and Birmingham is restrained from turning over securities of the Brunswick and Birmingham to the Knickerbocker Trust company, of New York.

The hearing as to a permanent receivership is to be held on May 2.

Receiver Smith visited Brunswick and Waycross to arrange with officials of the Atlantic and Birmingham for the continued operation of the Brunswick and Birmingham, which within the last three weeks was purchased by the Atlantic and Birmingham.

A Wabash Loan.

New York, April 26—While no official announcement of a Wabash loan was made it was learned from a trustworthy source that a loan for $6,000,000 bearing 5 per cent interest has been negotiated. It could not be ascertained whether the bankers' commission usually charged in similar railway loans was included in the interest mentioned. The loan will be secured by collateral deposited with trustees.

Vermillys & Co., and George P. Butler & Bros. are the purchasers of $1,160,000 five per cent gold notes sold by the Wabash railway.

Germany Needs Railroads.

Berlin, April 26—The Reichstag discussed a bill guaranteeing the interest on $4,687,500 cash for a railroad from Dares Salaam, German East Africa, to Mrogora, a hundred miles to the interior, which the House last year refused to pass. Dr. Steube, director of the colonial department of the foreign office, argued that the road was most important for promoting cotton growing. The German cotton industry, he added, must shut its factories unless new sources of cotton supply were opened. Herr Mueller-Sagen further said that the Americans are too far ahead of Germany in cotton growing, and he questioned whether East African cotton was adaptable to the wants of German spinners. Both bills were referred to the budget committee.

Sweeping Boycott.

New Haven, Conn., April 26—The most sweeping black list ever declared against the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad has just been promulgated by President McNeil of the National Boiler Makers' Union of America. It orders members of the union to decline to work on any boilers of the road in any part of the country, because it has set nonunion men to work in its main shops here. The machinists and carworkers threaten to strike unless their demands for an increase in wages and a nine hour day are granted.

Beginning May 1 the Big Four will dispense with the a la carte system on its dining cars and install the table d'hôte system. The change is said to have been ordered because the table d'hôte system is more satisfactory to the patrons than the other.

J. E. Meckling, assistant master mechanic of the Pennsylvania railroad, with headquarters in Pittsburg, has been appointed master mechanic of the Vandalia system, with headquarters at Terre Haute, Ind. The appointment is effective May 1. Mr. Meckling succeeds F. F. Hildreth.

SENTENCED

To Jail and Fined, is Harry Crawford, Former President of the Midland Railway.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26—Harry Crawford, former president and owner of the Midland railroad, was fined $100 and sentenced to serve 10 days in the Marion county jail by Judge Leathers of the Superior court for contempt of court.

Sheriff Metzger was ordered to arrest Crawford at the earliest opportunity. It is understood that he is now in New York. Crawford was cited by Judge Leathers to produce in court last Saturday the contract he had entered into with M. E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four railroad, when the Midland was sold to the Big Four two years ago.

Crawford neither appeared nor sent to the court any explanation. The order to produce the contract grew out of the suit against Crawford in which the attorneys sought information as to whether he retained stock in the Midland.

POST OFFICE CLERK'S STORY

How He Was Enabled to Take Out a Life Insurance Policy.

Mr. Fred B. Eveleth, Jr., general delivery clerk in the Lewiston, Me., post office, says: "For over twelve years, I was unable to obtain a life insurance policy but I have successfully passed two medical examinations for policies since Father John's Medicine cured me of a catarrhal trouble of twelve years' standing and restored me to health and strength after I was thought to be in consumption as the result of an attack of grip a year ago, which left me in a badly weakened condition. I have increased thirty pounds in weight and it gives me great pleasure to add my testimonial to the many in favor of your grand medicine." Remember not a patent medicine, no alcohol or other weakening stimulants. Guaranteed to cure consumption and all throat and lung troubles, or the money is refunded. Fifty years in use.

RIOT

Among Students on the Stage of the Canton Grand Opera House—Many Injured.

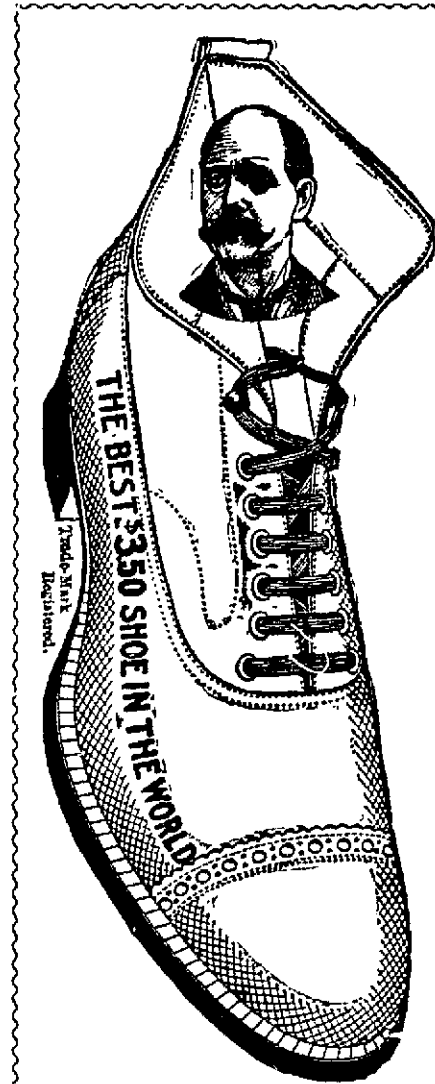

Canton, O., April 26—The oratorical contest last night of students from Canton, Massillon and Alliance High schools precipitated a riot in the Grand Opera house before the program was begun. The Alliance delegates had planted their colors upon the stage. This incensed the Canton boys, who climbed up over the footlights and tore down the large banner. A score of Alliance young men rushed to the rescue and in a few minutes 50 students were fighting. The Canton students retained the colors, but the Alliance boys got the remnants. Bloody noses and black eyes were the result. After the contest was over the fighting was resumed up on the public square and kept up until the electric cars pulled out for Alliance. The Massillon boys were spectators. They did not take part.

In the contest the greater honors went to Alliance students. The prizes were awarded as follows:

Declamation—J. E. Hazlett, Alliance. Oration—Donald Smith, Alliance. Debate—Ernest Evans, Canton. Essay—Laura Kelly, Alliance. Recitation—Grace Myser, Canton.

KEEN MINDS CUT DEEP

below the surface of their work. Clothes can be made to look attractive, yet shrivel away after a week of wear. It is not hard to make that kind. But the clothes that endure require long and telling study and the help of honest and self-respecting craftsmen. For forty years Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes have led the ready to wear world along the progress path, and today other clothes, read to wear or made to measure, are judged by their standard.

The smart Spring and Summer clothes we have received from these famous tailors mark the top notch of their attainment. Fabric pattern, style and fit are clean cut and full of quality. Do you know as much about them as you should for your own contentment?

MORMONS

ARE IN CONTROL OF SCHOOLS OF UTAH.

Pupils Kept in After Hours to Receive Religious Instructions Says This Witness.

Washington, April 26.—In the Smoot hearing Judge Powers finished his story and Moses Thatcher, an aged apostle of the church, was introduced and began his testimony shortly before the hearing adjourned. The cross-questioning of Attorney Van Cott led into the educational system of Utah. Judge Powers claimed that the Mormons controlled the schools, and that pupils were kept after hours to listen to religious instruction, but he was forced to admit that the schools produced results. In naming the prominent Utah graduates in historic and literary lines he included many Mormons. In fact, the only celebrity he was sure was not a Mormon was Maudie Adams, the actress. He was, however, sure of her. He was forced to pay several compliments to his Mormon Democratic co-laborers in political affairs. Although not a Mormon himself he approved of many of the moral attitudes of B. H. Roberts, and had supported him in his first fight for woman suffrage. He also paid a tribute to Moses Thatcher, which was the preface to that venerable apostle's appearing on the scene. He was one of the original exodus from Illinois to Utah three years before the discovery of gold in California, and while Utah was still Mexican soil. He was a child in arms then and is now 70 years old. Unlike the other elders he does not wear a full beard, and quick and sharp in his speech and angular features. He had but just begun his story of the conflicts within the church's bosom between the political party he represented and that of Mr. Smoot and President Smith when the time for adjournment came.

Chairman Burrows asserted on the stand that he knew Apostle Helzer J. Grant who was now attending an international kindergarten convention in Germany.

"Apostle Grant is a great educator, is he not?"

"In some lines," said the witness laughingly. He then detailed a speech before a Utah university made by Grant, at which he contributed $150 for the school. According to the witness Grant said $50 was for himself and $50 for each of his two wives and said that he was only sorry that the law would not permit him to have more wives.

Moses Thatcher said the controversy with the church was in 1895 and 1894 and gave an explanation of his study of politics before he became active in any campaign. He also spoke of his duties as an apostle. Thatcher minimized his trouble with the church. The first friction, according to his story, followed a speech which he made in 1892 in which he criticized the Republicans, and a letter was issued by Joseph F. Smith and John Henry Smith, protesting. Thatcher declined to take part in politics on account of his ecclesiastical position, but he counseled the Democrats to instruct the people so they would be understood in their position in favor of divorcing the state and the church in political affairs.

TO THE COAST

Newark Party Will go Next Tuesday—Engineers and Their Wives Plan a Fine Trip.

The following well known B. & O. engineers with their wives, will leave next Tuesday for Los Angeles, California: Joseph Robe, Frank Howard, Barney Riley and daughter, P. J. Glancy, James Connors, Martin Connors, J. W. Akers, Louis Kastle, J. W. Hoffman, and son, of Cambridge, John Gorbey, Milton Smith, Joseph Little, Harry Johns and several others.

The party will go direct to Los Angeles where the national convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers meets on May 11. Mr. Joseph Robe is a delegate from the Local division, 36 B. of L. E., while Mrs. Frank Howard will represent "Criswell" division No. 41. Ladies' Auxiliary of this city at the national convention which meets with the engineers.

The Newark party will leave on a special tourist sleeping car over the Santa Fe, returning at various times at the convenience of each member of the party.

WEDDINGS.

BOGARDUS-PARSONS.

Mr. Fred Bogardus, a clerk in Carnahan's grocery, was married Monday evening at 7 o'clock to Miss Renna Parsons, ev. J. B. Bovey performing the ceremony at the U. B. Parsonage, corner of Cedar street and Eastern avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Bogardus will live on Vine street.

HEINLEN-SANTEE.

A very pretty home wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. O. F. Santee, No. 210 DeCrow avenue, on Sunday afternoon, when his daughter, Maud V., was married to Mr. Alfred F. Heinlen. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Schindel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church and was witnessed by the families and friends of the contracting parties. Mr. Heinlen is a conductor on the local city street railway. Both young people are deservedly popular among a large circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Heinlen will reside at the corner of Hancock street and DeCrow avenue.

A MONTH'S MEDICINE FOR 25c.

Every bottle of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia contains sixty doses of a remedy that is pleasant and easy to take.

Used according to directions, this is sufficient for a month's treatment. Bought on Frank D. Hall's special half price offer of a regular 50 cent bottle at half price, you get a month's supply of the best medicine in the world for only 25 cents.

Another reason why you should use Dr. Howard's Specific, or at least try it, if suffering with constipation, dyspepsia or liver trouble, is the fact that druggist Frank D. Hall sells every bottle under his personal guarantee to refund the money if the specific does not cure.

Many lives are lost by treating the sick for the wrong disease. If you have any of the following symptoms, Dr. Howard's Specific will cure you:

Loss of Appetite, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Stomach Sour, Belching of Gas, Bloating of Stomach, Heartburn, Tired, Stupid Feeling, Lack of Energy, Swelling before the Eyes, Constipation, Grawling in the Stomach, Choking Feeling, Pains in Sides and Chest, Stomach Cough, Full Pains in Head, Comed Tongues, Melancholy Forebodings, Loss of Sleep, Throwing up Food after Eating, Bad Dreams.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running or roaring in your ears, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation is taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

FLOUR MILL

OF SITES & KELLENBERGER HAS CHANGED HANDS.

Wm. Kellenberger Obtains Possession of the Thomas Mill on South Second Street

Another big real estate deal has just been consummated in Newark, whereby the Hulshizer Brothers, owners of the Newark, Utica and Granville flouring mills are to become the owners of the Sites & Kellenberger flouring mill in this city. It is understood that in the deal Mr. Sites will be paid cash for his interest in the mill, while Mr. Kellenberger secures the old Thomas mill, now operated by the Hulshizer Brothers. Mr. Kellenberger will transform the mill into an up-to-date business house, with several store rooms, which he will rent.

GERMAN

Insurance Companies With One Exception Are to Withdraw from the United States

Berlin, April 26.—As a result of the scare caused by the recent great conflagrations in America, German insurance companies trading in the United States, have decided to withdraw. A director of the Gladbacher insurance company speaking of the decision today, said: "America is a country of unlimited surprises. The risks of the trans-Atlantic operations are greater than the profits." The directors of other companies make similar statements. One notable exception to the rule is the Achener Muenchener company which has resolved to continue its business beyond the Atlantic.

Dyspepsia Tablets

Rexall

A Fair Offer To Scoffers

We Know That Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets Will Cure You.

Thus We Are Safe in Offering to Return Your Money if Dissatisfied.

You take no risks. We take no risks. We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will cure you. Our free sample packages alone brought health to hundreds of sufferers.

Dyspepsia is caused by the absence of the digestive element in the gastric juices.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets supply this element, and stimulate the digestive apparatus to natural, healthy action.

Nine out of ten people have dyspepsia. Many do not know that it is dyspepsia that causes their constant suffering and weakness.

Are you dizzy? If you stoop and then suddenly straighten up, does everything turn dark before your eyes? Does a hot, bitter fluid rise in your throat after eating? Are you short of breath? Do you feel a weight in the pit of your stomach? Is your back weak? Is your tongue coated?

These are symptoms of dyspepsia. Dyspepsia never cures itself; never wears itself out. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets cure it quickly and permanently. Remember if you want your money back, it's yours.

One Woman's Experience

"Before I commenced taking your Rexall Tablets, I was troubled with terrible pains in my stomach, and I would use boiling hot water for relief. It would sometimes give relief, but it was not permanent. There were certain things I could not eat. After taking three boxes of Rexall I began to pick up, and now I feel all right. I haven't been so well for years as I am now. I would advise all who are troubled with dyspepsia to try Rexall Tablets.—Mrs. W. F. WALDEN, 34 Groton Street, Worcester, Mass."

JNO. K. COWEN

FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE B. & O. ROAD DIES.

The End Came Early Tuesday Morning at His Sister's Home in Chicago

John K. Cowen, former president of the B. & O. railway company, who was well known in Newark, died Tuesday morning in Chicago. The Advocate received the following press telegram at noon:

Chicago, April 26.—John K. Cowen, former president of the B. & O. railway, died early this morning after a long illness, at the residence of his sisters, Mrs. Minor T. Ames and Mrs. A. H. Seelye.

Mr. Cowen was born in Millersburg, Ohio, in 1841 and was graduated from Princeton university of which he was for many years a trustee. At one time he represented a Maryland district in Congress. In 1872 he became president of the B. & O. and afterwards during 20 years was general counsel for the company.

AFFRAY

Between Turkish Gendarmes and the Greeks is Reported from Smyrna. Trouble May Follow

Athens, April 26.—An affray between Turkish gendarmes and Greeks is reported from Smyrna, in which M. Delyannis, secretary of the Greek consulate, was wounded. Serious complications may ensue. A Greek squadron has sailed for Smyrna.

It appears that M. Delyannis endeavored to open the shops of Greek merchants which had been closed for nonpayment of taxes. This was opposed by the gendarmes. A struggle ensued. M. Delyannis was wounded and he fired on the gendarmes. The Turkish authorities imprisoned M. Delyannis and two consulate guards, who were only released after the intervention of the French consul.

The Turkish consuls are now holding a conference with the foreign representatives.

The Ottoman minister here, after a long conference with the Foreign minister, promised full satisfaction for the Smyrna affair.

An official communique, issued last night, says that M. Delyannis, acting in self-defense, fired several shots. The Greek Consul General proceeded to the office of the Ottoman Governor after the arrest of M. Delyannis and the consulate guards, and found M. Delyannis there, bound and bleeding from his wounds. M. Delyannis was authorized to accompany the Consul General, but the soldiers prevented the departure of the two guards, and unharnessed the horses from the Consul's carriage. The guards were finally released through the intervention of the French Consul. The communique adds:

"A fleet is leaving this evening to engage in maneuvers."

THE WORD "TO"

In General Harrison's Will Was the Bone of Contention, But the Widow Wins Suit.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 26.—In a second tilt over the contention of ex-President Harrison's will yesterday afternoon Colonel Russell B. Harrison, a son, declared that his father "knew his own business," and that his expressions were clear. The report of the administrator is objected to, and the word "to" is the cause of the whole contention.

General Harrison set aside $125,000 worth of railroad securities for the benefit of his widow. His will read "to the amount of." Now these securities have increased $10,000 in value and Colonel Harrison, the son, claims that sum should be returned to the administrator.

Probate Commissioner Walker decided that the widow, who is a second wife, should keep what the ex-President left her.

OBITUARY

BABY'S DEATH.

The little six weeks' old son of Mr. James Nutter died at the home on Spring street, after an illness of only a few days with pneumonia at 7:10 on Tuesday morning.

MRS. L. D. LEVINGSTON.

Mrs. Nancy Levingston, wife of L. D. Levingston, died at her home on the Rocky Fork, a few miles northeast of this place, on Monday, after an illness of some time with lung trouble, aged 50 years. Five children besides the husband, four sons and one daughter, survive her. The funeral services were held this afternoon at Smith's chapel, and the interment was made in the adjoining grave yard.

MINNIE FLORENCE HOLTSBERRY.

Born July 31, 1872, died April 17, 1904, aged 31 years, 9 months and 16 days. In the year 1895 she became a Christian and united with the Methodist Episcopal church. She leaves a father, mother, brother, sister-in-law and little nephew and niece, besides many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. She was a loving daughter and sister. So devoted to her mother that during her sickness though otherwise extremely patient her anxiety for her mother was very marked.

She served her Master by serving others and with her cheerful, pleasant manner won many friends. She realized that she would soon meet her Saviour and her loved ones who had gone before.

On Tuesday afternoon the remains of Miss Minnie, lying in a casket amid a profusion of beautiful flowers, was borne to the M. E. church by six of her lady classmates, where very impressive services were conducted by the Rev. J. H. Rogers, assisted by Rev. H. H. Elwiner, interment at Hebron cemetery.

The parents have the deepest sympathy of the community in their great bereavement, as Minnie was an only daughter, and will be greatly missed in the home and by her friends.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

In memory of Brother John R. Jones. Whereas, God, in his infinite wisdom, has seen fit to take from amongst us our greatly esteemed brother, John R. Jones therefore be it

Resolved, That the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union No. 4, has lost an active member, and that the sudden removal from our midst leaves a vacancy deeply realized by the members and friends of this organization.

While we deeply sympathize with his wife and family, the relatives and friends of the deceased, in this hour of bereavement we would have them remember God's promise to redeem the truly good and noble. Dust to dust we set not of the soul and as the sun sets so shall we set to rise again.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Union, and a copy furnished to the bereaved family.

By order of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union, No. 4, Newark, Ohio.

FRANK B. NORMAN, Committee. Newark, O., April 25, 1904.

LACK OF MODESTY

Characteristic of Modern Femininity, the Bishop Declares

New York, April 26.—Bishop Coadjutor David H. Greer has declared in a sermon at St. Mark's Episcopal church that there are signs of freedom getting beyond control and breaking down the traditions which have marked the progress of civilization.

"Not alone among the young men, but among the young women of today, there is a lack of self-restraint, a lack of modesty, a lack of the finer feminine things which we learn to admire in women. They talk of their freedom and their advance, but let me tell you, there is too much freedom for our sons and daughters. And this freedom which does nobody good, should be curbed if civilization is to continue its progress. There should be no freedom but moral freedom."

HANGING

OF THE THREE BOY BANDITS IN CHICAGO

Has Exerted No Tendency to Banish Crime from the Windy City—Citizens Attacked.

Chicago, April 26.—Residents of Chicago who drew a long breath of relief when the three car barn bandits were hanged, and flattered themselves that the city would be free of crime, were given evidence within 24 hours that gangs of desperate murderers and robbers still infest every section of the city. Within 10 hours after the execution two murders had been committed and within 15 hours after the hanging the number had been doubled, along with the probable fatal shooting of a robber. Meanwhile houses were being robbed right and left and hold-ups were being reported from every direction.

The appalling outburst of crime culminated yesterday with the attempt of three desperadoes to hold up an electric car on the Joliet and Chicago line at Brighton Park. The passengers were lined up and one man had been robbed of his watch and money when two policemen jumped on the car. The robbers fled, but one was later cornered in a dance hall and captured. He was identified as "Butch" McGraw, a notorious character. His companions escaped because the police feared to fire in the crowd at the dance hall.

Hold-ups are becoming alarmingly prevalent, and the city innocently enough is encouraging the bandits by imposing extremely heavy fines upon all men found carrying weapons. As a result the fines fall upon night workers, who seek to protect their lives, while the bandits, thus assisted by the police, are able to attack their victims, knowing them to be unarmed.

The attacks upon defenseless women are so brutal and numerous that even the lethargic interest of Chicago is aroused. Within a week more than a dozen women and girls have been dragged into alleys or attacked in their own homes by robbers, beaten into insensibility and robbed.

MONROE DOCTRINE

Will Soon Die a Natural Death, Writes Prof. Muensterberg.

Berlin, April 26.—Prof. Muensterberg has written a two volume book, "The Americans," which a Berlin publisher will bring out next week. The newspapers print extracts from it today. In a chapter on the Monroe doctrine the author says he thinks the time is near when the absurdity of the doctrine will be seen and the rejection of it will proceed as rapidly as the adoption of imperialism. By the masses cannot permanently run counter to its highest interests for the sake of caprice.

The professor argues that the conditions no longer exist which gave rise to the doctrine—namely the contrast between Europe as the land of tyranny and America as that of democratic freedom.

Prof. Muensterberg adds: "The United States' interests demand the rapid development of that continent for the proportion of American export trade. However, Europe must for the present continue the policy of hands off till the doctrine dies a natural death in the American mind."

RUMOR OF A PLOT

Against Loubet Denied in Rome—Pope To File a Protest.

Rome, April 26.—The report sent out from Rome to Berlin that there was a plot against the life of President Loubet is without foundation. A French priest went to the office of the Italian where, becoming excited, he cried that he had come to Rome to kill President Loubet. Then he disappeared. All search for this plot has proved unavailing. Nobody attaches importance to the incident.

These surrounding the Pope assert that he has expressed his intention to protest against the visit of President Loubet to Rome on the ground that it is the first occasion on which the head of a Roman Catholic country has visited the Quirinal since the fall of the temporal powers of the Pope. It is not known when or under what form the protest will be issued.

A gala dinner was given in honor of President Loubet at the Quirinal the evening. The President sat between King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena and opposite the Count of Turin. In the speeches, both of the King and M. Loubet, much stress was laid on the arbitration and later treaties recently signed.

LITERARY NOTES

"RUNNING THE RIVER."

"Running the River" is the title of George Cary Eggleston's new juvenile published by A. S. Barnes & Co., Fifth avenue, New York. It is a wholesome book for boys and is written in a way that can not hold but carry the reader's attention and interest from start to finish. It is a story of Mississippi river life before the civil war, being the experiences of three boys and their sister who by pluck, energy and intelligence succeeded in retrieving the lost fortunes of their fathers whose two steamboats were destroyed in a river collision. The writer takes occasion to weave in much interesting historical and scientific information, but this is only incidental and adds to the charm of the story which will delight anybody and make many an older person renew his youth by its perusal. It is a story history of the building of the great middle west told in a new way.

LOVE AMONG THE RUINS

The Outlook company will publish this summer a second novel by Wardick Deeping, which will excite even more interest than the first. Its title is "Love Among the Ruins," taken obviously from Browning's charming poem—and the story is of Britain in the brave days of old. There is the same vital human interest in this story which compels attention in "Ither and Ingraine," and it is certain to win a large audience.

VANATTA.

J. W. Baker of Vanatta, has returned after a week's absence, having been in Guernsey county, where he was called by the sickness and death of his father, Charles Baker, who was 90 years old at the time of his death.

The friends of Mr. Emmet Baker will be glad to learn that he is able to be out again after having been confined to his home for some weeks with malaria.

Mined.

The Russian admiral quivered with excitement as he raised his glass and stood at the distant Japanese fleet.

"Mined," he triumphantly cried.

And just then the mine lifted his battleship high in the air and let it drop to the sandy bottom far below.—(Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SHELDON

May be in Southwest According to the Story Told by His Ohio Wife—Spent Money Freely

Welch, W. Va., April 26—Mrs. Sheldon, wife of the Paul Sheldon wanted in New York City for alleged embezzlement, consented to be interviewed here. Mrs. Sheldon was formerly a Miss Davis, of Kenton, O., and belonged to a prominent family. She first met Sheldon three or four years ago. Sheldon spent money lavishly and impressed her that he was a man of means. She says that her husband was in so many businesses in connection with his law practice that she really never knew what was making the money he spent so liberally. Recently he has been home very little, until a month ago, when he remained home several days without visiting his office. She says that when she accused him, being in trouble he denied it and would remark that he was awaiting developments.

Mrs. Sheldon says that about three weeks ago Sheldon came home early in the afternoon and instructed her to tell their landlady that she was going to the hospital to be treated for throat trouble, and to her surprise they boarded a Pennsylvania train. In Charlottesville, Va., she left him, going to Lynchburg, thence to Welch, W. Va., where she knew Mrs. S. K. Davis, with whom she is staying.

Mrs. Sheldon says she has never heard her husband speak of any relatives, except an uncle somewhere in New Mexico, and with whom he has lately had considerable correspondence. She believes that he is now somewhere in the Southwest although she has had no word from him.

Mrs. Sheldon is pretty and talks very entertainingly. She had not heard of her husband's trouble in detail until yesterday, but believes him innocent.

Mrs. Sheldon expects to remain here several days.

PASTOR

PRESENTED WITH A HANDSOME PURSE

While the Methodists Also Reminded the Minister's Wife—Rev. Sparks Goes West.

Rev. L. C. Sparks, pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, who was elected an alternate to the Methodist Conference to be held at Los Angeles, Cal., left for that place Tuesday morning. Mr. Sparks had given up the idea of attending the conference, but the members of his congregation were very anxious to have him go, and at the official board meeting held on Monday night at the church he was presented with a purse of nearly $100 to help defray his expenses to California. After the business of the board had been concluded between 130 and 200 members of the church marched to the residence of Mr. Sparks, 59 North Fifth street, taking with them well-filled baskets and surprised Mrs. Sparks, it being the occasion of the anniversary of her birth. Upon arriving at the Sparks home, Mrs. Sparks was presented with a $50 set of Haviland china. Mrs. Sparks, although greatly surprised, was equal to the occasion, and thanked her friends most graciously for the beautiful testimonial of their friendship and esteem.

During the evening a delicious supper was served, and all had a splendid time. At a late hour all took their departure wishing Mr. Sparks a safe and pleasant journey to the Golden State, and wishing Mrs. Sparks many returns of her birthday anniversary. Mr. Sparks left this morning on the Pan Handle for Chicago, where he will join the main party on their trip to California. From Chicago the party will journey over the Northern Pacific.

There are 14 different bodies of Lutherans in New York with ministers. There is now a movement toward uniting these churches in practical work.

TOY PISTOL

To be Barred in Future From Fourth of July Fun in Chicago by New Organization.

Chicago, April 26.—Behind an order passed by the City council for the appointment of a committee for an official celebration of July 4, and the suppression of the toy pistol and the dynamite cracker, is a plan for the formation of a big amusement organization to take charge of future Chicago celebrations. It is to be incorporated as soon as Mayor Harrison shall have named the special committee for Independence Day, and the latter celebration is to be the first of a series of entertainments so conducted that human life and property will not be endangered by the small boy or the fool parent.

The organization is to be known as the Chicago Amusement Association. Colonel George Fabian is the leading spirit. It is to be capitalized for $1,000,000, the shares of stock being non-assessable and non-dividend bearing. It is expected that the first issue of shares will consist of $50,000 at $5.00 and 250,000 at $1.00. Many merchants favor the plan, as it will relieve them from additional assessments, nearly always made for public festivals and celebrations.

For the coming celebration of Independence Day $40,000 is to be spent for fireworks. Against this expenditure will be placed the saving of a vast deal of property by fires and explosions. It is the purpose to give a magnificent display of fireworks on the lake front.

The petition submitted by the Mayor to the council was signed by 305 prominent wholesale and retail merchants. The latter asked the committee composed of representatives of every legitimate calling be appointed to prepare a Fourth of July program to minimize danger to the small boy.

There are 155 women commercial travelers now on the road in Great Britain.

SIR KNIGHTS

THE 29TH TRIENNIAL CONCLAVE IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Newark Commandery Receives Hand-some Lithographic Posters—Newark Knights to Attend.

The Knights Templar of California have issued a handsome lithographic poster which is intended as a souvenir of the 29th triennial convocation, Knights Templar, to be held in San Francisco September 4 to 10, 1904.

The poster represents an ancient Knight Templar of the Crusader type of the last Crusade, at the end of the thirteenth century, with armor, shield, attire and trappings in all the splendor of those warlike times. He is mounted on a fiery steed halting upon the crest of a promontory, facing the Golden Gate and Fort Point. Looking through the Golden Gate at the farthest point of the horizon where the sky apparently rests upon the water's edge and the golden orb sinks into the deep waters of the Pacific, a brilliant sunset scene is depicted in all its glorious colorings.

The Knight turns his weather beaten face eastward, sitting erect in the saddle, with uplifted spear, and at a commanding pose, as though shouting a stern command to his followers from the east. The design is a work of art of the highest merit: it is after a water color by Hansen, who has acquired national reputation as a painter of the horse.

The horse is a handsome lithograph in 10 colors harmoniously blended, and makes a poster of exceptional merit, worth the place of honor in the choicest collection of the land. The border is an exact imitation of California redwood, and the whole production is a most creditable specimen of California's art of design, execution and reproduction.

St. Luke's Commandery, No. 34, of Newark, will probably be represented at the convocation, but how many will go will not be determined until the meeting tonight. It is known however, that several of the members will join the Cincinnati Commandery and journey to the city of the Golden Gate.

HOSPITAL OPERATION.

Sunmit Station, O., April 26—Eliza Whitehead was taken to Columbus on Friday evening by Dr. C. H. Wells to be operated on for appendicitis. Mr. Whitehead fell off a barn about three years ago. For some weeks he has been complaining of his back and it is thought his present trouble is the result of the accident. His many friends hope for his speedy recovery, as he has a wife and child dependent on him for support. He is aged about 24 years, and is a very industrious man, having been in the employ of the clay works here for some time. Word has just been received from the hospital physicians that the condition of Mr. Whitehead is such that an immediate operation was necessary. He was operated on this morning at 10 o'clock.

THE COURTS

CRIMINAL CASES ASSIGNED IN COMMON PLEAS.

Trials Begin on Monday, May 9—Other Common Pleas Cases—Realty Transfers.

The following assignment of criminal cases has been made for trial during the second week in May:

Monday, May 9—Case 1731, Ohio vs. Geo. Moore, burglary; 1831, Ohio vs. Dennis Good, shooting with intent to wound.

Tuesday, May 10—Case 1847, Ohio vs. George Hackett, shooting with intent to wound; 1845, Ohio vs. M. Friedman, receiving stolen property.

Wednesday, May 11—Case 1813 Ohio vs. Howard Peterson, grand larceny; 1624, Ohio vs. Fred Eichelberger, non support of child.

Thursday, May 12—Case 1626, Ohio vs. Waldo Tharp, grand larceny; 1849, Ohio vs. Fred Youse, assault with intent to kill; 1849, Ohio vs. Herschel Montgomery, assault with intent to kill; 1852, Ohio vs. Virgil Dush, obtaining money under false pretenses.

Friday, May 13—Case 1660, Ohio vs. David Turner, assault and battery. Peace warrants; bastardy cases.

In the case of the City of Newark vs. Clement L. Reamer, the court sustained a demurrer to the second branch of the answer and overruled the demurrer as to the first branch. The action is brought by the city to recover certain items of personal property which the city claims to be the owner of, viz: one civil engineer's transit and tripod, set of drawing instruments, etc. The city alleges that the defendant unlawfully detained the items of personal property, and that it is entitled to their immediate possession. The defendant says that he was the city civil engineer, and entitled to hold his office for one year, unless soon removed for good and sufficient cause; that he was removed without cause, and being so removed that he had a right to hold said articles of personal property, and that plaintiff, when the action was begun, had no right or authority of law to the possession of said property.

Smythe; James. Norton Crawford vs. Seth E. Struble et al, continued on application of defendant, and at his costs. Smythe & Smythe, Benner; Daugherty. I. Newman & Sons vs. Myer Bros & Co., continued on application of plaintiffs, and at their costs. Fulton; Black.

County Commissioners.

At the regular meeting of the County Commissioners held on Monday, the contract for making the fill at the Orchard street bridge was awarded to John McMullen at 31 cents per yard.

Suit for Money.

Frank McFadden by his attorneys, Smythe & Smythe, has commenced suit in the Common Pleas court against Peter H. Barber, administrator of Harvey J. Pierson, to recover the sum of $2755. The plaintiff alleges that the deceased was indebted to him in this sum for boarding, lodging, care and attendance for four years and five months, and for taking care of his farm for that time.

Demurrer Filed.

In the case of the City of Newark vs. Clement L. Reamer, Phil B. Smythe as city solicitor, has filed a demurrer to the first and second defenses of the defendants for the reason that they do not constitute a defense in law to the plaintiff's cause of action.

Norris Browne's Suit.

In the case of Norris H. Browne vs. the City of Newark, the plaintiff, by his attorney, G. C. Daugherty, has filed his reply to the answer of the defendants in which he claims that the

CARRIED OFF

By a Man, the Boy Wandered About All Night Seeking Shelter—Is Found Four Days Later.

Nashville, Ind., April 26—After four days of searching the 10 year old son of Mrs. Enora Moore was found by the posse that scoured the country for the boy.

When he was found in a farmhouse in Monroe county the lad said he had been picked up at home by a man who was driving past late Thursday afternoon, and that the man put him in the wagon and threw a blanket over his head. He added that he was put out of the vehicle by the man and left to find his way back home. This he said he was unable to do, and after wandering about all night, brought up at the farmhouse where he was located.

MRS. BROWN

Denies Her Husband's Charges That She "Looked on the Wine When It Was Red."

Chicago, April 26—A divorce case that will set Chicago society circles in a ferment will be given its first airing tomorrow when Mrs. Katherine M. Brown will ask temporary alimony and solicitor's fees to contest the bill filed by her husband, Charles E. Brown, secretary of the General Electric company.

The bill, which has been carefully concealed, charges Mrs. Brown with being a habitual drunkard. While living at home and traveling in this country and Europe, the defendant is charged with being too partial to wine in all its forms.

It is promised that details of some interesting episodes, said to have occurred on these trips, will be revealed. Mrs. Brown, who is a remarkably handsome brunette of 30 years, emphatically denies all the charges and declares that her husband deliberately sent her away in order to begin the suit.

OIL FOR THE BODY

You can't lose an atom without feeling it. The body is like an engine, a watch, a machine; must be kept in good order to run right.

That's the reason Scott's Emulsion is so successful in all wasting diseases. It feeds, nourishes and strengthens when ordinary food won't.

Doctors say Scott's Emulsion is the best nourishment for those who are not as well as they should be.

We use the whole oil in Scott's Emulsion because the great reputation of cod liver oil as a food and medicine was made by using it in this way. Substitutes in the shape of wines, cordials, extracts, etc., should be carefully avoided.

We'll send you a sample free upon request. SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl Street, New York.
